

3 Companies That Aren't Missing the All-Time High Party

Description

If you pay even the slightest bit of attention to the financial press, you know that both the Dow Jones Industrial Index and the S&P 500 have recently eclipsed their all-time high water marks. Thanks in large part to resource (energy/materials) stocks, the Canadian market has been left in the dust kicked up by its partying U.S. peers. The S&P/TSX needs to appreciate by about 19% to join in on the fun.

Just because the overall Canadian market has languished doesn't mean there aren't stocks that have recently achieved lifetime highs. The three big caps that currently sit within spitting distance of this headline friendly level are Enbridge (TSX:ENB,NYSE:ENB), TransCanada Corp. (TSX:TRP,NYSE:TRP), and Rogers Communications (TSX:RCI.B,NYSE:RCI).

No flash in the pan

Long-term investors in all three names are very likely a happy, and wealthy lot. The results tabled below speak volumes for the merits of buy and hold, dividend focused investing.

| Company Name | IPO-Present         | Price Return | Dividend Adj. Return |
|--------------|---------------------|--------------|----------------------|
| Enbridge     | 1/2/1976–4/1/2013   | +3,107.4%    | +32,134.9%           |
| Rogers       | 11/30/1979–4/1/2013 | +10,923.4%   | +14,671.3%           |
| TransCanada  | 6/3/1985–4/1/2013   | +71.4%       | +518.8%              |

If one had the foresight to invest $100 in each of these IPOs and simply held on, collecting dividends along the way, they would currently be sitting on a $47,000 stash. Not too shabby for three boring, old economy stocks!

Foolish Takeaway

Not only do the returns achieved by these three Canadian stalwarts help reinforce the power of long-term investing, they also demonstrate how profitable a competitive advantage can be for investors. All three are owners of assets that essentially will not be replicated. Rogers with its cable, and to a lesser extent wireless networks, and Enbridge and TRP with their pipeline assets. Companies that own irreplaceable assets are rare. When you find one, buy and hold on for the long ride to riches they can provide.

The S&P/TSX Composite Index is loaded with resource and financial stocks. Because of this, investors that rely on Canadian Index funds or ETFs severely lack diversification in their portfolio, opening them to undue risks. “Buy These 5 Companies Instead of Following a Flawed Piece of Advice” is our special FREE report that outlines an easy to implement strategy and 5 Canadian stocks that reduce the risks involved with passively investing in the Canadian market.
